PREFACE

Every citizen has a right to relevant and adequate information to enable them effectively understand their democratic rights, roles and responsibilities in order to participate in electoral processes and make informed choices.

The Constitution of Kenya, 2010 mandates the Commission to conduct and supervise voter education. In this regard, the Commission has developed this Voter Education Curriculum to deliver on this mandate.

This curriculum provides standardised voter education objectives and relevant content. It has also suggested training methods, training resources, and methods of assessment during voter education. This is aimed at ensuring standardization of voter education to attain the strategic objectives and mandate of the Commission of effective voter education.

The Commission expects that the implementation of this policy shall also guide the participation of stakeholders and partners in the provision of quality and coordinated voter education in Kenya.

Effort of the team that developed this voter education curriculum is highly commended.

Wafula Chebukati

Chairperson,
Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

I am delighted to present to you this voter education curriculum whose development has been informed by the need to enhance quality and coordination in the provision of voter education in Kenya. Effective voter education creates awareness among voters thereby enhancing their effective participation in the electoral process.

Adherence to the information contained in the Voter Education curriculum and manual shall lead to effective delivery of voter education that responds to the needs of Kenyan voters.

I wish to thank the Chairperson, Commissioners, Management, and Staff for their valued input in the development of this curriculum and manual. I also acknowledge the technical support given to the Commission by United Nations Development Program and the invaluable expertise by the Kenya Institute of Curriculum Development (KICD) that enabled the realization of this document.

Ezra Chiloba,
Commission Secretary/CEO,
Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission

KEY NOTES

General principles of the electoral system

Credible elections are guided by the following principles:

- Integrity

  The Commission shall ensure that elections are conducted with utmost ethical behaviour and competency.

- Transparency

  All electoral processes shall be conducted in a clear and open manner to all players and stakeholders.

- Accountability

  The Commission shall be responsible for all its actions in the electoral process.

- Efficiency

  All electoral processes should be conducted in a cost effective manner and quality results delivered within stipulated time.

- Professionalism
Electoral officials should be competent enough to conduct the elections according to the set standards. All candidates, parties, voters and stakeholders should be treated equally and fairly.

- Rule of law

  All laws relating to elections should be fully implemented in an impartial and equitable manner.

- Independence

  The electoral body should be free from external influence in the execution of its mandate.

- Impartiality

  The Commission should be non-partisan and enjoy the confidence of all stakeholders by establishing a level playing field for all stakeholders in the political field.

Electoral system in Kenya

An electoral system is a process by which votes are translated into electoral seats. The choice of a system therefore determines the nature of representation and the format by which seats are allocated.

In Kenya, the electoral system embraced is ‘First-Past-The-Post’ coupled with proportional representation based on party lists and special seats allocation for the youth, Persons with Disabilities, women, marginalized and minority groups. The winner in each electoral area is the candidate who receives the most votes in an election except for Presidential election.

With regard to presidential election the winner must obtain an absolute majority of the valid votes cast during an election i.e. 50%+1, and at least 25% of votes in at least 24 counties.

KEY NOTES

Requirements for Electoral Systems in Kenya

An electoral system must comply with the following principles:

a) freedom of citizens to exercise their political rights
b) not more than two-thirds of the members of elective public bodies shall be of the same gender;
c) fair representation of persons with disabilities;
d) universal suffrage based on the aspiration for fair representation and equality of vote;
e) free and fair elections, which are—
   i. by secret ballot;
   ii. free from violence, intimidation, improper influence or corruption;
   iii. conducted by an independent body;
   iv. transparent; and
   v. Administered in an impartial, neutral, efficient, accurate and accountable manner.

At every election, the Independent Electoral and Boundaries Commission is required to ensure that:
a) whatever voting method is used, the system is simple, accurate, verifiable, secure, accountable and transparent;

b) the votes cast are counted, tabulated and the results announced promptly by the presiding officer at each polling station;

c) the results from the polling stations are openly and accurately collated and promptly announced by the returning officer; and appropriate structures and mechanisms to eliminate electoral malpractice are put in place, including the safekeeping of election materials.

Types of Elections

In Kenya, there are two main types of elections; namely:

- General Election
- Referendum

a. General Elections

- The General Elections in Kenya are held every fifth year at the lapse of the term of the President, Members of Parliament, Governors and Members of the County Assembly.

- Sometimes health incapacity, death of an elected President before assuming office, Member of Parliament or County Assembly and other legal provisions may trigger the following elections

  i. Re-run election
Re-run election for Presidential Elections can be held when a presidential election does not produce a clear winner. This means that no presidential candidate has attained more than half of all the votes cast and at least 25% of the votes cast in each of more than half of the counties.

It is a fresh election held thirty days after a previous Presidential election which had no clear winner. The candidates for this election are the best two candidates who score the highest and the second highest votes.

ii. Special Presidential election may be occasioned by:
   - Death of the President before assuming the office
   - Death of or incapacity of the Deputy President to assume office following a vacancy in the office of the President.

iii. By-election

By-election: This may be occasioned by a vacancy in Parliament and County Assemblies. A by-election is also occasioned by death of, or incapacity of the Deputy Governor to assume office following a vacancy in the office of the Governor or if a vacancy occurs in the office of the Governor and Deputy Governor at the same time.

iv. Recall election

Re-call election is an election that results from a judgment or a finding by a High court following a petition by the electorate.

b) Referendum
Referendum is an election in which the electorate are asked to give their opinion about or decide an important political or social question. This may include amending the Constitution in regard to:

i) the supremacy of the Constitution
ii) the territory of Kenya
iii) the sovereignty of the people;
iv) the national values and principles of governance
v) the Bill of Rights;
vi) the term of office of the President;
vii) Commissions and independent offices.

Impeachment of the President

The President may be removed from office on any of the following grounds:
- Gross violation of the Constitution or any other law
- Gross misconduct
- Physical or mental incapacity to perform the functions of office of the President

The process of removing the President may be conducted in two ways:
- Through either a motion for investigation on the President’s physical or mental incapacity instituted by the National Assembly and supported by at least a quarter of all members and then forwarded to the Senate where the same number is required. This process involves the formation of a tribunal of inquiry by the Chief Justice and a final simple majority vote of all members of the National Assembly.
- Through a motion of impeachment based on the grounds stated above instituted by a Member of the National Assembly. The process involves the Senate and not a tribunal. By a senate vote of two thirds of all the members of the Senate upholding the impeachment charge, the President ceases to hold office.

Impeachment of the County Governor

The County Governor may be removed from office on any of the following grounds:

- Gross violation of the Constitution or any other law
- Gross misconduct
- Physical or mental incapacity to perform the functions of office of the county governor

A Member of the County Assembly upon getting support of at least a third of all the members may issue a notice to the Speaker, to move a motion for the removal of the Governor.

If the motion gets the necessary support the Speaker of the County Assembly informs the Speaker of the Senate of that resolution within two days.

The Speaker of the Senate constitutes a special committee to investigate the matter and report to the Senate within ten days.

The Governor is given an opportunity to defend himself or herself before the special committee and if found guilty he or she ceases to be Governor.

KEY NOTES

Recall of a Member of Parliament

Recall of Members of Parliament may occur when voters lose confidence in their Member of Parliament. This can happen before the end of the term of the relevant House of Parliament.

A Member of Parliament may be recalled on any of the following grounds:

- Misconduct likely to bring hatred, ridicule, contempt or dispute to the office
- Lack of moral standing and integrity
- Mismanagement of public resources
- Desertion of the electorate without reasonable cause including continual absence from the constituency or county
- Failure to adequately represent views, opinions and proposals of his/her electorate to the relevant house
- Failure to participate in the work of the relevant committee or committees of the relevant house in which he/she is a member
- Failure to update the electorate on the workings of the relevant house committees and decisions passed
- Convicted of a criminal offence

The Process of Recalling a Member of Parliament

- Recall can be initiated 24 months after the election of the Member of Parliament and not later than 12 months immediately preceding the next general election.
- A recall petition can only be filed once against a Member of Parliament during the term of that member.
- A person who contested that particular election unsuccessfully shall not, directly or indirectly, file a petition for a recall.

The petitioner files the matter with the IEBC specifying grounds for the recall in writing and accompanying the petition with:
- Order of the High Court.
- List of names of registered voters in the constituency/county; identity card/passport numbers and signature of the voters supporting the petition.
- The list must have at least 30% of the registered voters and at least 15% of voters from more than half the wards in the constituency/county. The list is collected and submitted to the IEBC within 30 days after filing the petition.
- Five hundred thousand Shillings (Sh. 500,000) petition fees paid to the High Court.
- The IEBC verifies the lists of names in a 30 day period and issues a notice to the Speaker of the relevant House in 15 days, and a recall election is conducted within 90 days.
- The IEBC shall develop the recall question that requires a “yes” or “no” vote.
- A recall election is only valid when it is supported by at least 50% of the registered voters.
- A successful recall election gives way to a by-election where a recalled Member of Parliament may still run.

The Recalling of a Member of County Assembly

Recall of Members of County Assembly may occur when voters lose confidence in their Member of County Assembly. This can happen before the end of the term of the relevant County Assembly.

A Member of County Assembly may be recalled on any of the following grounds:
- violation the provisions of Chapter Six of the Constitution;
- mismanagement of public resources;
- if convicted of an offence under the Elections Act.

Process of Recall of Members of County Assembly

- Recall can be initiated 24 months after the election of the Member of County Assembly and not later than 12 months immediately preceding the next general election.
- A recall petition can only be filed once against a Member of County Assembly during the term of that member.
